Shortage of funds in foreign missions

2035. SHRI SATISH PRADHAN: Will the Minister of EXTERNAL AFFAIRS be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government's attention has been drawn to the news-item captioned "MEA slammed as expenses on foreign missions shoot up" appearing in the 'Indian Express', dated 2nd May, 2001 according to which there was a shortage of funds for some categories of expenses, while funds under other heads were not spent properly; and

(b) if so, Government's views and reaction thereto?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS (SHRI OMAR ABDULLAH): (a) and (b) Yes Sir. The budget for Embassies and Missions abroad is as follows:—

2000-2001 (Revised Estimates)	Rs. 727.012 crores
2001-2002 (Budget Estimates)	Rs. 756.085 crores

The increase in Budget Estimates for the current Financial Year over the last year's revised estimates is largely on account of salary fixation and increase in office expenses generally due to exchange rate fluctuations. Based on feed back from Missions, increases wherever warranted have been made to meet functional requirements e.g. towards publicity expenses both in the Missions' budget and also in the Ministry's budget. Whenever shortage on account of increased and important activity in specific missions have been reported, these have been met through reappropriation by effecting savings elsewhere.
